Have you seen the White Whale?

You may not recognize it by name, but you've seen it. The White Whale is a staple of the AMA. The trailer has been used for storage transportation but in recent years has served as the scoring headquarters for AMA events. The White Whale is also great for getting out of the heat or rain.

Dan Monroe.

The team from Singapore ran into some trouble getting their aircraft through customs. The models did not arrive until yesterday, but still left them time to get everything set up for flight.
